221 AT COUNTY REUNION PICNIC

FORMER RESIDENTS GATHER AT LONG BEACH, CALIF.

ABOUT HALF THERE

"It Is Interesting To Know Maryville Is Never Forgotten," Mrs. W. A. Sayler Says In Letter.

Two hundred and twenty-one persons, former residents of Nodaway County, were present at the picnic held at Bixby Park, Long Beach, Calif. on June 14, according to a letter received today from Mrs. W. A. Sayler secretary of the Nodaway County California Association.

This number represents only about half of the former residents of Nodaway County in California.

"It is interesting to know that Maryville is never forgotten," Mrs. Sayler said in her letter. "Several of these people have not been in the home town for thirty-five years or more, and were having a great time talking over old times. Everybody was happy. Why not, with a beautiful, cool, clear day, plenty to eat and among old friends?"

The former residents of this county in attendance were:

D. J. Howell, Ida Bentley Halbert, Gay Hastings Leeper, Ben Litts and wife, Frank Litts, J. W. Thompson and wife, Mary M. Condon, Ed Otis and wife, Harland Otis and wife, John H. English and wife.

F. M. Compton and wife, Wayland Wood, W. J. Wood and wife, Wesley Bales and wife, Milo Vickery, Mrs. Estella Oster Darter, Mrs. Ella Oster Hammar, C. A. Torrance, Gerald Keef and wife, Wilda Keef Dagleman.

MAKE PLANS CLUB CAMP

TO BE IN ATCHISON COUNTY, NEAR FAIRFAX.

3 DAYS, AUGUST 4-6

Mrs. Keeley, Home Economics Agent Here Today Conferring With County Agent Fleetwood.

Arrangements for a tri-county boys' and girls' club camp, to be held at Valley View near Fairfax, August 4-6 inclusive, under the auspices of the farm bureaus of Holt, Atchison and Nodaway Counties in co-operation with the Extension service, were outlined today at the local farm bureau office by Mrs. Mary Paxton Keeley, county home economics agent of Holt County, and J. Ross Fleetwood, Nodaway County extension agent.

This camp will be under the actual supervision of C. W. Davis, county agent of Atchison County, who will be director, Mrs. Keeley and Mr. Fleetwood. Several parents of the boys and girls will be there and a public health nurse, Miss Margaret Davison of the local county Health Department, will also be at the camp during the three days' session.

Boys and girls who have completed at least one year's work satisfactorily in club work in these counties are eligible for the outing. Mr. Fleetwood said this afternoon that he did not expect more than twenty from this county would be in attendance. There will be a larger number of boys and girls club members from Holt and Atchison counties.

Mrs. Keeley, who makes her headquarters at Mound City was here today conferring with Mr. Fleetwood in regard to the activities of the camp. The purpose of the camp was explained by Mrs. Keeley to furnish educational and recreational features for boys and girls living on farms, and furnish a three days' outing for the youngsters. It is the tentative plan to devote the morning of each day to educational activities and the afternoon more for recreation and sports. One day will be known as a "stunt day."

There is a swimming pool adjacent to where the camp will be pitched at Valley View, and boys and girls who secure permission of their parents will be allowed to swim under the supervision of an expert swimmer.

Mr. Davis, who is to be director of the camp, was unable to be here today for the conference. The program for the three days will soon be completed and made known through the Democrat-Forum and Tribune as soon as released.

It is the tentative plan at present that besides the director of the camp Mrs. Keeley will be in charge of the commissary department and Mr. Fleetwood to have charge of the sports.

Prisoner Sentenced From Here, Is Caught

Ernest Jackson of St. Joseph is Apprehended There Wednesday on Charge of Car Theft.

Ernest Jackson, 26 years of age, 1428 South Fourth street, St. Joseph, sentenced to five years in the state prison from this county in August, 1921, was captured by St. Joseph detectives there Wednesday night and is charged with stealing a Ford coupe.

Jackson, with two others implicated, were charged with stealing an automobile at Barnard in 1921, receiving a five years' sentence here, but was released from the penitentiary September 20, 1924.

The car theft was made at St. Joseph Sunday night, the car belonging to P. M. Beauchamp of Bethany.

TELLS OF CAR LIGHT LAWS

GLARING HEADLIGHTS CAUSE OF MANY ACCIDENTS.

TO ENFORCE STATUTE

Many Cars Not Equipped With Right Lenses—Cutouts Prohibited Says Prosecutor.

"Perhaps the greatest hazard incident to the operation of motor vehicles is the use of improper lights thereon," commented George Pat Wright, prosecuting attorney, this morning.

Mr. Wright was asked to define the statutes in relation to what is required for headlights on automobiles. A list of lenses approved by the state department will be printed in an early issue of the Democrat-Forum and Tribune. Mr. Wright has the following to say in this regard:

"With the advent of the automobile, now seemingly an indispensable production of modern times for travel, pleasure and transportation, came many dangers to society incident to the use and operation of so powerful and dangerous an agency propelled at high speed and with tremendous momentum. Not only may the downfall of many of our boys and girls, and many of the crimes committed and immoralities practiced, be attributed to the use and rapid transit afforded by the automobile, but the danger to life and limb flowing from their constant use is alarming.

Glaring Lights Cause of Accidents.

"Every day we hear of an accident or near-accident directly resulting from improper lights, blinding lights or glaring lights on automobiles at night. All of us have experienced this evil. Semi-complaints have been made to this office and the question often asked, 'isn't there any law regulating lights on automobiles?'

"I have talked with many of our good citizens and find it is the common opinion that the law regulating the use of lights should be enforced. Certainly all good citizens desire that the dangers incident to the operation of automobiles be minimized and the hazards to the life and happiness of our people be, as far as possible, eliminated.

Can Be Avoided.

"Believing this to be true and in the hope that many accidents may be avoided, I desire to call the attention of the public to the statute governing lights on motor vehicles. This law was enacted in 1921. So far as I know, no effort has been made to enforce it here. Its violation, being more of a sin of omission, has been allowed to go on and a condition allowed to arise, which, it seems, must be remedied for our own safety.

"A strict compliance with the motor vehicle law is, I think, next to impossible; however, certain features of the law governing lights are easily complied with and should and must be enforced. Without attempting to give a complete 'resume' of the law, the more important features which will be insisted upon, follow:

Features of the Law.

"'Motor vehicles (automobiles) and motor-tricycles shall carry two white lights in front and one red light in the rear.

"'Motorcycles, one white light in front and one red light in the rear.

"'Trailers, one red light in the rear.

"'Bicycles, one white light in front and one red light in rear.

"'All rear lights may be so constructed as to emit a white light to the side, top, front or bottom to display number plate.

"'Automobiles must carry in addition to or in lieu of the front signal lamps, above referred to, two lighted headlamps.

Plain Glass Not Permissable.

"'Plain, clear door glasses, or moulded lenses, which merely deflect the major portion of the light without diffusing or blending it shall not be used.

"'All door glasses (unless they be moulded or diffusing lenses, hereafter referred to) shall be etched or ground to such a degree that the lighted filament shall appear blurred and all light emitted shall be

Can Sell or Use Fireworks Only on Day of July 4

No plans have been made for Maryville to celebrate July Fourth, but the youngsters will have their firecrackers and fire works even though no general celebration is planned.

However, the firecrackers, roman candles, skyrockets, toy pistols and the like, cannot be purchased until the morning of the Fourth, as:

A city ordinance passed by the board of aldermen in 1913, prohibits the sale or use of such explosives only one day in the year, namely, July Fourth. It is considered a misdemeanor and upon conviction all violators of such ordinance are subject to a fine of not less than $1 or more than $50 for each offense.

The ordinance specifies that firecrackers, dynamite canes, cap pistols or caps, skyrockets, roman candles, pin wheels, nigger chasers, or fire works of any description can be sold or put on display for sale, or caused to be fired, other than July Fourth.

WANT ROUTE 27 CHANGED

PROPOSE BENNETT-LANE ROAD TO ST. JOSEPH.

"FILLMORE IS ON MAP"

Delegation From There Wants Some Consideration—Objects to East Routing From Savannah.

An effort will be made by a Fillmore delegation of about one hundred persons to have the Maryville-St. Joseph hard-surfaced highway routed over the present Bennett Lane road, according to a statement made by James Barnes, cashier of the Round Prairie Bank at Fillmore.

This town in Andrew County is objecting to the proposed east routing from Savannah, as outlined in the Democrat-Forum last week.

Mr. Barnes emphasized the fact that Fillmore "paid a great deal of taxes, and was still on the map and was entitled to a reconsideration."

This week's issue of the Savannah Reporter has the following:

In a letter to The Reporter B. H. Piepmier of Jefferson City, chief engineer for the Missouri State Highway Commission, enclosed a copy of the order of the state highway commission in regard to the location of the road from Savannah north on Route 27, to Maryville which was as follows:

Hon. Thomas Montgomery and Mr. John A. Fields appeared before the commission in favor of locating primary Route 27, between Savannah and Maryville, due north from Savannah to a point about one mile west of Rosendale thence north to a point about one and one-half miles west of Bolckow, following what is known as the river road.

The chief argument presented in favor of this location was the service it would render to the towns of Rosendale, Bolckow and other community centers north and east. It will also afford a better connection for the state road from King City to Rosendale, and thereby more nearly comply with the intent of the law.

The commission advised the delegation that the two contesting routes had been previously considered. The western route known as the ridge route is a good location for a highway and could be built for less money than what is known as the eastern route, but it admitted that the eastern route is more direct and more nearly complies with the intent of the law.

Therefore, upon motion of Mr. Carleton, seconded by Mr. Matthews, the location of primary Route 27, between Maryville and Savannah was located over the eastern route described above.

Will Attend the K. P. Meeting in St. Joe

D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Russell Robey went to St. Joseph this afternoon to attend the meeting of the Knights of Pythias in that city tonight. Governor Sam A. Baker will be in attendance at the lodge meeting and will assist in conferring degrees on more than 100 candidates. Gov. Baker arrived in St. Joseph this morning. A banquet will be given in honor of Gov. Baker at the Hotel Robidoux in that city at 6:30 o'clock this evening.

17 NEW HOMES BEING ERECTED

IS LARGEST NUMBER FOR SEVERAL YEARS.

MEANS BETTER CITY

Is Turning Of Tide, Says D. A. Caldwell, Secretary of Chamber of Commerce, In Building Boom.

Seventeen new houses have been built or are in the process of construction in Maryville since January 1 of the present year, a survey of the city made today shows.

This is the greatest number of new houses built in Maryville within a six-months perior for several years, local lumber dealers said today. Several other persons are contemplating the construction of houses before the end of the year and the total is expected to be greater than for a good many years.

Considerable remodeling work is being done or will be under way within the next few months.

It is estimated that the seventeen new homes represent an expenditure of approximately $100,000. The cost of an average five-room house is about $5,000 and the majority of the new homes are of the five and six-room type.

Last year, twenty-three new homes were built in Maryville.

"The construction of so many new homes in Maryville at the present time would seem to indicate that the tide is turning and that fewer people will move away and more will come here to live," said D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce, today in commenting on the number of new houses being built this year.

"It is to be hoped that such is the case," Mr. Caldwell continued, "for with few, if any dwellings vacant, and every piece of property producing revenue, prosperity of a permanent nature is at hand.

"Edgar A. Guest says 'It takes a heap of livin' in a house to make it a home,' and so in time the 17 new houses under construction in Maryville at the present time, will all become the center of life for some family. Today the average family is considered to consist of four individuals. In other words there soon will be room for 68 more people here than there was a few months ago.

"Growth alone is not all that is worth while in the life of any city, and yet without growth, at least equal to the normal increase from births, a city is bound to slip backward in comparison with its neighbors. From 1900 to 1920, Maryville increased in population only 134 people, or 3 per cent. During the same time the population of the U. S. increased 40 per cent. With the local birth-rate 20.2 and the death rate 11.7 per thousand, 782 more people were born here than died during the twenty-year period. Had they all lived here the population increase would have been 17.5 per cent instead of 3 per cent. What became of the 14.5 per cent or 648 people? Obviously that is the number of those who moved away in excess of those who came here to live. The present increase in housing facilities to accommodate 68 people, is more than half the increase of a full score of years.

"May every new house built in Maryville become a real 'HOME' in the true sense of the word."

The following is a list of new homes built and those in the process of construction, since January 1 of the present year:

Dr. R. L. Wohlford, East First street.

M. K. Garrett, West Second street.

Henry Stapler, West Third street.

Shepherd Case to Jury by Nightfall

Robert E. Crowe, State's Attorney, Begins Final Argument for State —Denounces Defendant.

Chicago, June 26.—William D. Shepherd's fate will be in the jury's hands before nightfall.

When court opened today, Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, began the closing arguments to the jury by which he hopes to convict Shepherd of the murder of William Nelson McClintock.

Following Crowe's plea will be the judge's charge.

Crowe began his argument by urging upon the jury the seriousness of the case. He then went into a denunciation of Shepherd, pictured by Stewart and O'Brien, his counsel, as "a church member; a member of the bar and a respected member of this community."

AMERICANS IN GREECE SAFE

GENERAL PANGALOS IS APPOINTED PREMIER.

FORMS NEW REGIME

Task Is Undertaken By M. Papanastassiou Following Bloodless Revolution.

Washington, June 26.—Americans were unharmed in Greece's bloodless revolution, said a dispatch to the State department today from Robert F. Fernald, consul.

London, June 26.—General Pangalos has been appointed premier of the new Greek government and has also assumed the duties of minister of war, according to a Central News dispatch from Athens today.

Athens, June 26.—The task of forming a new Greek Government was undertaken today by Monsieur Papanastassiou, following the bloodless revolution yesterday which resulted in the overthrow of the government under the premiership of Michalakapoulos, and the setting up of a military regime.

The Bourse remained closed this morning but if normal conditions continue to prevail it was expected it will reopen soon.

James Harvey Eckles Dies Yesterday P. M.

Well-Known Resident of County Succumbs Following Extended Illness of Complication of Diseases.

James Harvey Eckles, a resident of Nodaway County since 1887, died at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home on West Torrance street following a several weeks illness of a complication of diseases. He had been failing in health during the last two years.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home, 219 West Torrance street, conducted by Dr. C. C. James, pastor of the First Methodist Church. The Rev. S. P. Allison of the Presbyterian Church, with which the family is affiliated, is out of the city. The body will lie in state at the residence from 10 a. m., to 1 p. m. Burial will be in Miriam cemetery.

Mr. Eckles was born December 30, 1853, at Yorkneck, Adams County, Ill. He came to Nodaway County in March, 1887, locating on a farm in the Rockford neighborhood. He later sold this farm and bought his present farm in the Lasher vicinity. He retired from active farming in 1904 when the family moved to Maryville.

Mr. Eckles was married February 20, 1883, to Emma J. McGinness, who survives with two daughters, Miss Ora Eckles, at home, and Mrs. Myrtle Lippman, wife of Roy Lippman of Maryville. The surviving brothers and sisters are: Luther Eckles, Mrs. J. F. Cook and Mrs. S. J. Willard of Maryville, Sam Eckles, Graham, and Hiram Eckles, Orange, Calif.

Mr. Eckles was a member of the Maryville Lodge, B. P. O. E.

J. R. Pearce of Quincy, Ill., a brother-in-law of Mrs. Eckles, will arrive tonight to attend the funeral.

Shane King Here.

Shane King arrived last night from New York City for a several weeks' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. King, and his sister, Miss Alsamene King.

UNKNOWN DEAD IN K. C. FIRE

BODIES OF VICTIMS ARE NOT YET RECOVERED.

GILLIS THEATER WRECK

Explosion, Probably Starting From Drug Store, Causes Approximate Damage of $150,000 Last Night.

Kansas City, June 26.—Balked for hours in their burrowing into the ruins of what may be the funeral pier of two-score denizens of the jungles of the "north end," firemen shortly before noon today began again to search for bodies of the victims of the fire and explosion which wrecked the Gillis Theater late last night.

Threatening walls caused the workers to halt while the bricks were torn down by steel gables. The bricks fell on the spot on which it is believed most of the bodies will be found, if the loss of life is heavy.

Fire Chief Henderson said today noon he did not believe they would be able to reach that section of the ruins before night. Whether thirty to fifty are dead under the bricks or whether less than a dozen lost their lives cannot be determined until the restaurant site is uncovered.

Investigation into the cause of the explosion will not be started until the efforts to find bodies in the ruins are ended.

Kansas City, June 26—All efforts to search for dead in the ruins of the Gillis Theater were abandoned at 10:30 o'clock this morning on orders of Alex Henderson, fire chief, and Walter Besecke, superintendent of buildings, until the north wall of the building is pulled down. Wrecking crews immediately started on the wall with ropes.

Kansas City, June 26—J. M. Holmes, manager of the Gillis Theater, said this morning that two hundred tickets had been sold for the midnight show just before the explosion which wrecked the theater. Holmes declared he believed there were that many persons in the audience. No survivors, however, have placed the audience at more than twenty.

Kansas City, June 26—Search for bodies began at 5:30 o'clock this morning in the ruins of the Gillis Theater, Kansas City's second oldest playhouse destroyed by an explosion and fire late last night, with an estimated loss of life between thirty and fifty.

Injured to Hospitals

Twenty-three are known to have been injured and were treated at hospitals.

F. H. Tuey, administrator of the Gillis estate, said that there were twenty men in the basement of the Sanderson restaurant, under the theater, and ten more in the basement of the Newark shoe store, next door, when the explosion came, and that he was sure none got out alive.

Fire Chief Henderson said he was unable to give an estimate of the dead, but believed that few persons in the theater got out alive.

Until 5:30 o'clock this morning, it had been impossible for firemen to get into the ruins of the heat.

Explosion Near Midnight

The Gillis, in recent years, has been an all-night burlesque house. The explosion came just before the midnight show. Most of the members of the chorus, orchestra and house employes were at Sanderson's restaurant getting lunch.

C. A. Buckley, patrolman, who had just left the Gillis, said that there were possibly twenty or more in the house. Several of these escaped.

The explosion is believed to have come from the Robert Cary drug store, in the building which had closed a few minutes before the explosion.

According to Henry Schrader, who was seated on the first floor near the door, the entire building seemed to collapse after a streak of flame and debris shot up through the center. Schrader said he saw bodies blown high as he fought his way out.

Five employes of Sanderson's restaurant had not been accounted for at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

AMUNDSEN'S RETURN.

A sigh of relief went up throughout the civilized world on receipt of the news that Roald Amundsen and his bold and hardy companions on the attempted airplane flight to the North Pole were safe.

The venture was a failure in so far as achievement of the explorer's objective is concerned, and Amundsen's keen disappointment over this is shared by millions; by those even who from the first announcement of his daring plan had been skeptical of its practicability.

It is not to be questioned, however, that something of worth has been accomplished, and that in consequence of the experience of the Amundsen expedition it will be easier for his followers, if he does not make another attempt, to overcome the obstacles to success that outdid him. For one thing, it has been demonstrated apparently, that, with proper planning and suitable provisions made in advance a party may be cast away in the far north land yet not be lost. In the weeks of anxiety that followed upon the reluctantly formed judgment that Amundsen and his companions had met with disaster there was much doubting as to the adequacy of his arrangements for getting back if the planes failed him.

They used to walk. Now they hike which, of course is much easier and less tiresome.

The girls have an excuse for the abbreviated and filmy gowns they wear in summer. They must keep cool. Now, if they can think up a good excuse for wearing the same things in winter and for wearing furs in summer, the record will be complete.

According to the Department of Agriculture at Washington, the country's major crops returned a profit last year to the farmers. The average cost of producing wheat in 1924 is placed at $1.22 per bushel compared with an average sale value of $1.43. The average corn crop cost 82 cents against an average sale price of $1.10. Oats cost 50 cents and brought an average of 57 cents and various other crops returned a profit to the growers, the North Central group of states showing the closest margin between cost and return prices.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—"Coolidge has forgotten Oklahoma." This was getting to be quite a slogan among "sooner state" Republicans.

Job after job had come up in Washington to be filled, but no Oklahomans were picked to fill any of them.

Again and again they thought they had a dandy candidate. Time after time it looked as if their man was sure to win out.

Just as regularly, somebody else nosed in ahead of him at the last minute.

This went on until Oklahoma Republicanism began to show signs of considerable fractiousness, which was alarming, Oklahoma being a very doubtful state politically, with a senator to elect next year, not to mention eight congressmen.

But Coolidge hadn't forgotten. He simply was waiting for a duly qualified Oklahoma candidate's name to be submitted to him for a nice federal appointment.

When, finally, such a candidate did turn up, the president promptly named him assistant attorney general in charge of government land litigation. He's Bert M. Parmenter.

The mysterious qualification? Oh, he's a native Vermonter.

Bethel's his "old home town"—about 15 miles from the Coolidge place. Also in Attorney General Sargent's neck o' the woods. Parmenter lived there until he was 20.

For all his New England origin and accent, Parmenter's a thorough Oklahoman now.

He landed on the site of Lawton 24 years ago. The site alone was there at the time.

"The Kiowa, Comanche and Apache reservation," he explains "had just been opened to settlement. The government had cut the land into farms, to be drawn for.

In their midst the town of Lawton had been decreed and staked out in city lots. They were acutioned off."

"That town certainly was made to order," Parmenter reminisced. "At the beginning of the week—virgin wilderness. By mid-week—a thriving, little tented city of about 8,000.

I wasn't quick enough to get a number for the farm lottery, so there was nothing for me to do but buy a town lot, pitch my tent on it and settle down to practice law.

"There was precious little of it for the first few weeks—a little federal authority, but not much, and no local organization at all."

"Shootings," the new attorney general continued, "were so common they went unnoticed. A man was killed three tents from mine one night and I didn't think it worth while to get up, or find out next day what the fight was about or who the killer and his victim were.

"I never learned. Gambling was wide open. 'Let 'er roll! Let 'er roll! Let 'er roll! NOW SHE ROLLS! came day and night from the big tent where they ran the wheel."

"It may have been only a coincidence," Parmenter observed, "but Lawton started with just 150 lawyers and just 150 saloons.

"The saloons are neither here nor there. But you can understand, with so many lawyers, we had to have some law. So we organized a local government in a month or six weeks.

"We established order. We began building wooden shacks in place of our tents. In six months the railroad built in.

"Then Oklahoma was admitted as a state."

Parmenter is going to be popular with the press—for he doesn't bluff.

I called on him a few hours after he'd assumed his new duties. He wasn't fairly started and hadn't much to do.

That's the time the average office-holder pretends to be up to his neck in work. But not Parmenter.

When I promised to be brief, "Take your time. I'm not very busy," he said.

Harry Carey Here in "Beyond the Border"

"Beyond the Border" is a place where anything might happen and where everything has been known to happen. That is why it makes such an admirable title for Harry Carey's new Hunt Stromberg production which comes to the Empire Theater tonight and Saturday. Carey's capabilities are as unlimited as the space "Beyond the Border."

It is not at all outside the realm of credulity to see him take the place of another man, and get away with it, as he does in this picture. He stresses the difficulties, the pathos, and the comedy of the situation with such finesse that nobody thinks to wonder that the heroine does not discover the masquerade.

Pat Bird in Trouble at Kansas City

Pat Bird, formerly of Quitman, but now of Kansas City, is under arrest in the latter city, charged with being an accomplice in the attempted murder of Mrs. Charles Davies at Concordia, Kan., on October 14, 1924. Bird is not charged with taking part in the actual crime, but in helping to find persons who were willing to do the job.

Charles Davies, husband of the intended victim, according to an alleged confession he made this week, wanted to get rid of his wife and about that time Lee Bird, son of Pat, was a terror in Kansas City. Davies decided he would be a good man to do the job, so he addressed a letter to Lee asking him to come to Concordia and talk over a matter with him, agreeing to pay his expenses there. The letter arrived the morning after Lee was shot and killed by a policeman in Kansas City while holding up a filling station. His father came into possession of it and it is charged that the elder Bird helped to get the persons to do the job. Mrs. Davies was beaten and left for dead after she had returned home from a trip with her husband, but finally recovered and has been living with Davies since, not knowing until this week that he plotted her death.

Davies says that demands of the gang with whom he plotted to commit the crime caused him to make the confession, as he could no longer satisfy their demands for money.—Burlington Junction Post.

Car Turns Topsy-Turvy

Bill Kennedy, the Driver, Receives Several Bruises When Car Falls From Bridge.

(Skidmore News)

Bill Kennedy went to the bottom of the ditch with his car early Sunday morning when it turned topsy-turvy off the side of the bridge just east of the Rue Peter farm, east of Skidmore.

Bill had been to Maryville and when he was near the Lasher school house on his return, it began raining and Bill kept on driving. The roads had not begun to get slick but a little dirt was on the boards of the bridge and the little rain which had fallen, made them pretty slick. Bill said that when he ran upon the bridge the car began to skid and knocked the banister off the north side of the bridge and the car alighted in the bottom of the ditch upside down and Bill still in the car. He was unconscious for a while, but was able to pry himself out and went to the Rue Peter home and called for the doctor, who went after Bill and dressed his wounds. It is not thought that he received any serious wounds, but his left side is pretty badly bruised, but he was able to be around Monday.

The car was brought to town Monday afternoon and it will take about $100 to put it back in shape again.

He Had to Censor This

This mural painting on the wall of a more or less Bohemian restaurant in Los Angeles amused some of the patrons and roused the wrath of some of the others. The wrathy ones protested so loudly that the proprietor, Joe Coppa, had it painted out.

"Yes! thank you."

A GOOD appetite means a cheerful disposition.

You may have a good appetite if the blood that goes constantly to your vital organs is pure. S.S.S. purifies the blood—a good appetite follows and you will have a clear complexion and will be strong, cheerful and healthy.

Don't go on feeling up one day and down the next—hardly sick but never well—losing "pep," punch and ambition. Hearty eaters are the red-blooded men and women. Enjoy your food! Get back your strength and energy! Reclaim yourself before it is too late! People in a physically run-down condition are an easy prey to disease.

S.S.S. is what is needed. Your blood needs purifying. Your blood-cells supply the energy which keeps your body well and fit. S.S.S. aids Nature in supplying new red-blood-cells,—the spark that rejogs your system. Carefully selected, scientifically proportioned and prepared herbs and barks make up S.S.S.—the great blood purifier which gives Nature a helping hand.

Get back the lost appetite, the missing vitality, the keen, sparkling eyes, that look of determination. S.S.S. will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

Mr. Innis will join his family in Maryville next week for a few days' visit.

Literary Societies Present Programs

The program of the Philomathean Literary Society of the State Teachers College which met yesterday afternoon was built around the general subject "To June."

The program:

Poem, "To June" (James Henry Leigh)—Hattie Jones.

The Ideal Man—Maye Sturm.

The Ideal Woman—David Max.

Courtshhip, "How I Caught One"—Hazel Pixler Querry.

Proposal, "Oh, Promise Me" (song)—Loraine Maxey.

Wedding, "I Love You Truly" (song)—Maggie Fisher.

End of the Romance, "Wedding March"—Viola Copeland.

The program of the Eurekan Literary Society consisted of a special oral edition of the school paper, The Green and White Courier. All front page news gave intimate and even embarrassing facts about members of the society, and the advertising section consisted of novel slogans and selling talk. The Strollers column, which is a regular feature of the paper, was devoted to interesting bits of news of a humorous nature.

Miss MacLaren Again Pleases Big Audience

Noted Dramatist Presents "Bought And Paid For" At College Auditorium—Liberal Applause Given

Repeating her success of Wednesday night when she thrilled a large audience at the College auditorium, Miss Gay MacLaren again proved a favorite last night with her presentation of "Bought and Paid For," a Broadway success for a number of years.

The auditorium was well filled again last night and the liberal applause was perhaps the best indication that Maryville play-lovers appreciated Miss MacLaren.

The story dealt with the old problem of a rich man marrying a poor girl. The husband took the position that his wife was "bought and paid for" and he could do and live as he pleased. A reconciliation and reform furnished the "lived happily ever afterward."

Jimmie, the shipping clerk, provided an abundance of comedy in last night's production. Miss MacLaren is, indeed, everything that is claimed for her.

Former Conception Jct. Woman Dies at Omaha

Miss Nan Kenney, Cousin Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ferritor, to Be Buried at Conception Tomorrow

Miss Nan Kenney, about 65 years of age, Omaha, Neb., a cousin of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ferritor of Maryville, who lived at Conception Junction nearly thirty years ago, died at 5 o'clock this morning at her home. Death was caused by paralysis. She has been in failing health for a number of years.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's Church, Omaha, tomorrow morning and the body will be shipped to Conception Junction, where burial will be made at the Catholic cemetery there tomorrow morning, the services to be conducted by the Rev. Father Placidus. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kenney, are buried in the Conception cemetery.

She was born at Athens, Ohio, and lived with her parents at Conception Junction for several years. For many years she has lived with two sisters, the Misses Katherine and Bridget Kenney, at Omaha.

She is survived by four sisters, Mrs. J. P. Lowe, and the Misses Katherine and Bridget Kenney, all of Omaha, Neb., and Miss Margaret Kenney of Spokane, Wash.; and two brothers, Thomas Kenney, Spokane, Wash.; and the Rev. Father Edward P. Kenney, S. J., Las Vegas, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lowe and sons, Paul, Edward and Kenney, will accompany the body to Conception Junction. Their two daughters, Margaret, of Manila, Ia., and Grace of New York City, will be not be able to be there.

Cousins of the late Nan Kenney, who will attend the burial services at Conception Junction are Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Enis and son, Dr. E. L. Enis, Moberly, Mo., J. C. Ferritor, Stanberry, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ferritor and daughters, Grace and Mary, Maryville.

Randall Awarded Job for Concrete Bridge

Structure to Be Constructed on Nodaway-Holt Line, 5 Miles West of Skidmore.

W. W. Randall of Maryville, was yesterday afternoon awarded the contract for a concrete bridge, to be constructed on the Nodaway-Holt county line, about five miles west of Skidmore, by the Holt and Nodaway County courts in joint session at Oregon.

Mr. Randall submitted the lowest of three bids for this bridge. His bid was $22.40 per cubic yard, and the engineer's estimate is eighty-one cubic yards, bringing the approximate total cost of the concrete structure $1,814.40. The structure will be 8 by 8 by 48 feet.

Roy W. Stewart of Iowa submitted a bid to the courts at $24.85 a cubic yard and J. F. Stump of Holt County put in a bid of $26.90 a cubic yard.

Judges E. T. Bailey and J. N. Billingsly, and deputy clerk, Fred Wright, met with the judges of the Holt County court. Phillip Schlotzhauer is the presiding judge of the Holt County court.

The cost of the bridge will be paid jointly by Holt and Nodaway counties on a 50-50 basis.

Snodgrass Announces New Sermon Series

"The Bible And Why I Believe It" Is General Subject Taken By Pastor Of Christian Church.

"The Bible and Why I Believe It" is the general subject of a series of sermons to be delivered by the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, pastor of the First Christian Church. The introduction to the series, "The Bible's Claim," was delivered last Sunday evening.

"This series is timely in this hour of fundamentalism, modernism, evolution, and such-like discussions," the Reverend Mr. Snodgrass said in commenting on the subjects. "The sermons will appeal especially to the College students."

The following is the schedule of the sermons:

June 28—Morning, "The Bible Supplies Our Spiritual Needs."

Evening—"The Bible and Literature."

July 5—Morning, "The Bible Up-to-date."

Evening—"The Integrity of the Bible."

July 12—Morning, "The Bible and Man."

Evening—"The Bible and Nations."

July 19—Morning, "Christ and the Bible."

Evening, "The Bible Leads."

July 26—Morning, "The Bible and the Church."

Evening—"The Bible and Its Enemies."

"A TALE OF THREE CITIES

Comment on the Uniform International Sunday School Lesson for June 28, 1925.

Review Lesson.

WM. SOUTHERN, JR.

The first one hundred years of the history of the Christian church has aptly been called by historians "The Tale of Three Cities." The cities were Jerusalem, where the church started, Antioch, the third largest city in the Roman Empire at the time where the followers of Jesus were first called Christians, and Rome, where Paul was held in chains for the years during which he gave us his best writings and formulated the Christian theology.

In our studies for three months we began at Jerusalem with the first Christian revival, Peter's great sermon on the day of Pentacost and have followed the beginnings of the church to Antioch where Paul, after ten years of seclusion following his conversion, preached the Gospel of Jesus to the Gentiles, marking the greatest epoch in the development of the new religion up to that time.

On the way we have seen the power of the simple truth in the effect of Peter's preaching. Then the story hurries on from chapter to chapter, one unfolding to the other in perfect sequence. Dr. Luke, who wrote the Acts, tells the story with a vivid touch. He would have made a great newspaper reporter. Of course he headlined the things which seemed to him to be important and his faculty for thus emphasizing the high lights of the story make up the altogether delightful book which we call the Acts of the Apostles. Under his magic fingers we can almost see Peter that morning when he starts to enter the temple by the Beautiful Gate, stop and look at the cripple begging. We can almost hear his words as he imitates the Master and tells the cripple to arise and walk. This miracle did more than restore life to the withered limbs of the cripple, it attracted the attention of the people to Peter and John as no other kind of an advertisement could have done and gave them a hearing.

For a long time the church struggled along in Jerusalem with small results. It was at an early meeting that even the members were startled at the sudden death of Ananias and Sapphira who were liars. The members then recognized the fact that there was no place for the liar and the grandstander in the new church. If we in this day could get the people to understand that in some mysterious manner there was no longer any graft in politics, no longer any official fattening on illegal spoils none but honest men in business, our form of government would suddenly become in realty what we say it is when we make fourth of July speeches.

The first great tragedy in the new church was the death of Stephen. This was also the first turning of the church toward spreading the Gospel outside of Jerusalem and was also the beginning of the conversion of Saul, the prosecutor, who stood guard over that pile of clothing and watched Stephen die.

Up to this time not one of the disciples had ever considered other than Jews as eligible to membership. They did not even think that Christianity might be given to the Samaritans although Jesus had plainly told them all this. When Stephen died and Saul began his intensive campaign of extermination, the disciples and their followers had to leave Jerusalem. Philip preached in Samaria and Peter went after the black-skinned eunuch and baptised him. Converts driven by persecution and by the routes of trade, travelled up and down the great highway and told the story of Christianity in Lydda, Joppa, Antioch and other cities roundabout. The church was growing.

Then came the greatest event which had happened to the new church up to that time. There was no leader strong enough to direct the growing work among the apostles. God selected a leader and he did not select as we select. He picked out the man we would have considered the most impossible man in the world for his work. He went over into the camp of the enemy and chose Saul the head of the persecution the high official of the Sanhedrin, the most dreaded man among all the men persecuting the Christians of that day. God selected Saul, brought about his conversion and made him the leader of the new church.

But the Christians would not have it so. The Jews cast out Saul and tried to kill him. The Christians were afraid of him. Saul worked and thought out his new job over a period of ten years and when he came forth and began his real work at Antioch he was ready to go.

While Paul was seasoning for his work, Peter and the other disciples, Philip and Barnabas, were spreading out and bringing people and prestige to the new religion. Their work was scattering but it covered a large territory. Through these men God used miracles to bring men and women to Christianity, just as he uses miracles today for the same purpose. Peter healed the paralytic Aeneas at Lydda and raised the woman Dorcas from death. It was another miracle when God showed Peter, much to his surprise and disgust, that even a Gentile might become a good Christian without becoming a Jew.

God directed His new church. He directed the disciples who preached one thing, there was no difficult formula, no mysterious initiation, no class lines, no denominational difference. These men of the new church preached Jesus, preached a pure life, preached unselfishness, preached the wonderful value of prayer, preached that there was no color line in Christianity, that there was no line of class in Christianity.

We talk about going back to the original church. There are many things which were a part of this church to which we can never return, the barbarism in all the nations, the cruelty and oppression of tyrants, the slaves and the slums and the superstitions. Today we perform miracles to help Christianity when we send the spoken word over wireless, when we prevent disease by cunning surgery and careful sanitation, when we use automobiles and flying machines for our work. But we can and should go back to the simple Christian doctrine of the early church which permitted men their own liberty of thought and required only a belief in Jesus.

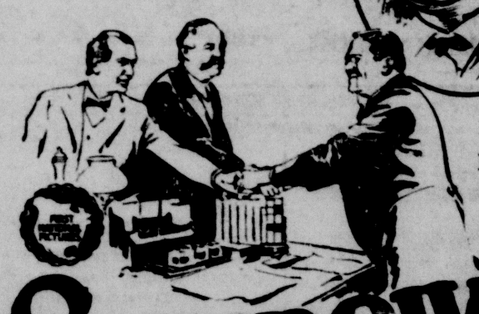
An Epic Drama of Great Hearts and Mighty Events

"Your breed was strong enough to take that land from the claws of the wilderness, but none could be strong enough to keep it from the gentle fingers of progress."

Theodore Roosevelt.



A First National Picture

SUNDOWN

By Earl Hudson

The cattle barons, the men who blazed the trail across weary miles of prairies, who hewed their way through impenetrable forests, fought through fire and flood to conquer the Southwest, felt, even in Roosevelt's time, that they were slowly being pushed out by the homesteaders. The fingers of progress were too strong even for these hardy pioneers—and finally began the egress across the border of these unconquered hearts, seeking new ranges for their great herds.

That is the story of Sundown, set in dramatic scenes of an amazing drive of 100,000 cattle. The story of their toils in which they paid in blood and suffering, their daring and heroic deeds, their wonderful romances, will set the blood atingle. One of the biggest pictures, with the biggest idea of the period.

QUICK QUAKER cooks in 3 to 5 minutes
No hot kitchens, no muss, no bother

HOW you feel in summer depends on how you eat.

Start the day with oats . . . with the "oats and milk" breakfast doctors urge.

You'll feel better. You'll keep cooler. Your energy will not drain away so fast.

Get Quick Quaker. It cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. No hot kitchen, no muss or bother.

Start tomorrow. See how much better you will feel.

All that Quaker flavor is retained in this Quaker Oats. Quick Quaker cooks faster. That's the only difference.

Mail Subscriptions

This is in compliance with a ruling of the United States Postal Department, the essence of which is: that all newspapers going through the mails must be paid for in advance; and

Furthermore, because it is the most businesslike way to handle subscription accounts.

A newspaper owes it to its advertisers to have subscribers that want the newspaper bad enough to be willing to keep it paid for in advance—otherwise the newspaper ceases to be a necessity in the home and serves merely as a circular that goes into the home without being sought.

This newspaper is spending a great deal of time and money to make the paper wanted in every home in a large circle around Maryville. We believe that we are publishing the sort of newspaper that Northwest Missouri people desire.

But we cannot be the judge. We must leave that to you.

We do not want any reader that is on our present list to miss a single copy of our paper, and we sincerely hope that no reader will want to be dropped.

But with July 1 your name will come off our mailing list if your subscription is not paid in advance.

SELECT BEST 6 NOTEBOOKS

WILL GIVE $100 PRIZE TO WINNING BOOK.

ARE BEING JUDGED

Entered in Vitalized Agriculture Notebook Contest for Rural Children Of Northwest Missouri.

The best six of the twenty-five notebooks received in the One Hundred Dollar Vitalized Agriculture Notebook Contest for rural school children of northwest Missouri under the direction of A. H. Cooper of the State Teachers College department of vitalized agriculture, have been selected, according to an announcement by Mr. Cooper this morning. The entry list in the contest closed June 1.

The six books were chosen by three disinterested judges and are being sent today to John F. Case, editor of the Missouri Ruralist at St. Louis. Mr. Case has agreed to grade the notebooks as soon after the first of July as possible.

The only prize in the contest is one hundred dollars in gold to the boy or girl whose notebook is selected as the best one entered. This sum of money is advanced by a business man in Northwest Missouri who is interested in the future of vitalized agriculture. He has asked that his name be withheld. This is the second year that the prize has been offered.

Last year the money was won by a 13-year-old school girl of Livingston county. Those receiving honorable mention last year are: Delpha Duff, Chula; Carrie Powell, Trimble; Carrie Lillie Angle, King City; Rose McCray, Jamesport; and Elizabeth Embleton, Trenton. All but Misses Embleton and Powell are competing again this year.

Mr. Cooper said this morning that the books are of better quality than those received last year, although the number entered this year is not quite as large as last year.

The books are all made by hand and the covers are done in ink, colored paper or water colors and bound with ribbons or metal rings. The pupils spent from four to six months on an average making the books.

Everything in them is of such a nature as to be interesting and useful to people living in rural communities. There are maps and explanations, crop surveys, estimations of crop costs, insect pest discussions, kitchen efficiency arrangements, samples of sewing, samples of seeds, plans for farm tools, health habits, photographs of rural life, clippings of farm notes, current events of the year, land measuring directions, and other things learned in vitalized agriculture.

The judges of the books were: Miss Gertrude Fulcher, formerly county superintendent of schools in Platte County and now a school principal in Jefferson City, John Snyder, superintendent of schools at Janzen, Nebr., and Miss Dortha Cave, of Lincoln, Neb., a teacher of art, English and music. All books were graded by all three of the judges.

The names of those who have entered notebooks in the contest, the names of the schools they attend, and their postoffice addresses are:

Margaret Boatright, Republican School, Savannah; Edman Chaney, Bilby, Skidmore; Margaret Courtney, Barnett, Gallatin; Delpha Duff, Ward, Chula; Wilma Edwards, East High Point, Mill Grove; Anna French, Waldo, King City; Eva Valliere Gates, Red School, Jamesport; Mary Ellen Houghton, Barnett, Jamesport; Lester Hall, Ireland, Maryville; Lorene Lawson, Bilby, Skidmore; Dorothy Mae Landes, Charity, Jamesport; Rose Beatrice McCray, Red School, Jamesport; Boyd Nickell, Barnett, Jamesport; Dick Nickell, Barnett, Jamesport; LeRoy Pottorff, Dean, DeKalb; Mildred Shaw, Oak Grove, Plattsburg; Vida Powell, Stony Point, Edgerton; Lou Nell Terry, Barnett, Jamesport; Lola Lawson, Tracy, Spickard; Roberta Lawson, (name of school not given), Maryville; Velma White, Pleasant Hill, Maryville; Huston Welsh, Dean, Maysville; Carrie Lillie Angle, Maysville; Dixie Crookshank, and Opal Lee Oyler.

The names of the makers of the six books that were sent to Mr. Case were not given out today by Mr. Cooper and will not be published until the end of the contest.

"Trade at Home" Campaign Is Described in Article in Farm Journal Merchants Supplement

The following is the review of the article which won first prize in the contest sponsored by the Farm Journal Merchants Supplement on community plans to keep farmers trading at home. The article tells of the experiences of the citizens of Washington, Ind., a city of approximately 9,000 population.

Several years ago Business Men's Ass'n., realized that too much potential local trade was going to mail-order houses and large cities. Figures obtainable from banks, post-office and tax records were compiled for a period of 3 months. It was found that the business men were paying 63 per cent of the entire taxes collected in the county.

A series of three pamphlets was prepared presenting three figures, and mailed one a month to every home in the county, in a campaign of education, not only for the farmers but for every taxpayer. The results were instantaneous and wonderfully surprising. One of the very successful farmers, when awakened to the merits of the question said publicly: "Every person in Davies county, who was guilty of spending outside the money which he made in and because of the county was similar to the prospector who struck a rich vein of gold and exhausted it and then moved on.—The people of this county are actually paving the streets, building the roads, maintaining the schools, charitable institutions in cities they will never see."

Dinners and entertainments were held, with a Farmers' Picnic as the culmination, now an annual event, at which 12,000 plates were served, at which it was shown that all had the same difficulties in different ways. Acquaintances were cultivated and the sales forces of the stores urged to do the same.

This plan has been in operation for 5 years, and today it is not very good anywhere in the county for a person to be known as a mail-order patron.

At the same time store service was improved. One concern doing $400,000.00 gross business annually, established a delivery and collection to country for a radius of 12 miles. Three times weekly delivery was made over each of four routes. Payment for produce is made by the drivers with a ticket which can be redeemed for cash or merchandise at the store. Only one-sixth of the patrons take payment in cash. Since starting this collection service four additional phones have been installed for rural use, and 2½ ton trucks have replaced the ½ ton Fords on three of the routes.

Graham Food Selection Class Serves Dinner

Is Given Tuesday Noon at Home of Mrs. John Geyer—Nine Members of Class Were Present.

Nine women of the Graham food selection class, conducted by the Red Cross chapter, served a dinner Tuesday noon which they have been planning as part of the course. The menu was planned for one day to meet the requirements for the average women, considering the total calories, proportion of protein, mineral, vitamines, digestibility and palatability, and the cost.

Preparation of the dinner was divided among the members of the class who could be present and dishes taken to home of Mrs. John Geyer in time for dinner at 2 o'clock. Special attention was paid to the decoration and beautifying of the tables, says Miss Dixie Harris, who has been conducting the class. Mrs. Geyer acted as hostess and Mrs. Ralph Scott and Mrs. Ralph Summers were waitresses.

The menu consisted of pressure cooked roast beef, gravy, mint sauce, graham bread, butter, creamed new potatoes, peas and carrots, combination vegetable salad with french dressing, fruit punch, angel food cake and lembert.

Those who were present at the dinner:

Mrs. Ralph Scott, Mrs. Ralph Miller, Mrs. M. M. Rhoades, Mrs. Harry Taylor, Mrs. Eldon Findley, Mrs. John Riggs, Mrs. Robert Noblet, Mrs. Ralph Summers, Mrs. John Geyer and Miss Dixie Harris, nutrition specialist.

Unknown Dead in K. C. Fire

of Kansas City's underworld amusement district. In the basement beneath the theater building, two gambling games were known to be running in which the thirty men reported dead were playing.

John Hogan, 40, a fireman, was killed when his hose cart crashed into a lamp post on the way to the fire. Hogan was the only man definitely known to be dead early today.

Property Loss $150,000

The theater, Sanderson's restaurant, and several small buildings on either side were destroyed. There were at least twenty persons in the restaurant, most of whom were injured.

The explosion shot debris for a half-block on either side of the two streets. The Fifth street entrance to Sanderson's restaurant collapsed at once and it was here that firemen started the search for the bodies this morning. It was at this spot, according to Tuey, that the bodies of the thirty men would be found.

The property damage is estimated at $150,000.

SOLUTION OF THURSDAY'S PUZZLE

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Solving the Problem

IT'S UP TO YOU, ANNIE -
WHATEVER YOU SAY GOES - SEE ? YOU CAN STAY HERE WITH THE SILOS OR COME BACK TO THE CITY WITH ME -
WE WANT YOU TO GO WHEREVER YOU'LL BE THE HAPPIER, ANNIE -
BUT GEE WHISKERS ! HOW CAN I DECIDE ? YOU'VE ALL BEEN SO SWELL TO ME I LIKE YOU ALL JUST THE SAME, I DO - AN' IF I GO TO THE CITY I'LL HURT YOUR FEELINGS OUT HERE ON THE FARM, AND IF I STAY HERE 'DADDY' WILL FEEL HURT - I DUNNO WHAT TO SAY -
MARY AND I'VE TALKED IT OVER, MR. WARBUCKS, AND WE FEEL ANNIE SHOULD GO WITH YOU - WE LOVE HER THE SAME AS YOU DO AND WE'LL MISS HER TERRIBLY BUT YOU CAN GIVE HER SO MANY MORE ADVANTAGES THAN WE CAN HERE ON THE FARM - SHE'LL HAVE A BETTER CHANCE WITH YOU AND IT WOULDN'T BE RIGHT FOR US TO BE SELFISH AND HOLD HER BACK -
OH YOU BIG HEARTED DEARS - AND I CAN COME AND SEE YOU REAL OFTEN I CAN AND YOU CAN COME IN AND VISIT US TOO -
AND TO THINK SOME BIRDS WOULD TAKE ADVANTAGE OF REAL FOLKS LIKE THAT - I WISH NOW I'D BROKEN THAT GUY WILLIS' NECK -
OH ANNIE -

College Presidents Will Convene Here

(Green and White Courier)

Announcement has been made of the fact that the presidents of the Teacher's Colleges of Missouri will meet here sometime this summer. The date has not yet been definitely set.

Dean Parker of Warrensburg will represent Central Missouri State Teachers College because of the fact that President Hendricks was here last year. Springfield State Teachers College sends President C. M. Hill; Cape Girardeau, President Joseph A. Sarena; and Kirksville either President John R. Kirk or President-Elect, Eugene Fair.

Mrs. Frankie Lincoln and Mrs. James Hornbuckle of Barnard were in Maryville yesterday. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Anna Hornbuckle, who will visit her son, James Hornbuckle, and family, for a few days.

Chicago Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, June 26.—Grain futures finished mostly higher on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Stock wheat showed a fractional loss, reflecting weaker cash premiums.

Liberal selling by eastern bulls forced wheat to new lows on fair exports and confirmation of reports that southwestern farmers were holding grain, started a rally. At this point the market was found to be heavily oversold. Buying of good volume continued to the close and absorbed most offers for profits.

Indifferent Continental demand forced stock wheat off after regaining the day's losses. Cash business showed great improvement. Receipts were lighter.

Oats followed corn to a higher close.

Packing houses bought provisions. Trade was brisk.

Pickering

O. G. Null.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pfeiffer, former residents of this community, now living at Brush, Colo., arrived here last Thursday for a few days visit at the home of Mrs. Mary Chambers, mother of Mrs. Pfeiffer and with other relatives in this vicinity.

Miss Ora McMillen who is at the head of the Domestic Science Department of the Topeka, Kansas Public schools, arrived here Monday evening for a visit at the home of her father, C. G. McMillan and with other relatives here. She is accompanied here by her little niece, Mary Anna Chaney of Topeka.

A deal was consumated this week whereby Dr. E. L. Crowson became the owner of the Samuel Hostetter residence property in the west part of town.

Dr. Crowson gets possession about July 1, but will have the house refinished inside before occupying it.

Hanna and Lincoln are putting in a filling station and have installed a visible type gasoline pump in front of their place of business this week. They will obtain their gasoline and oils through the Gray Oil Co., of Maryville.

At a meeting of the Board of Education last week, Miss Birdie Besinger of Stanberry was chosen as teacher of mathematics and history in the high school at this place. This completes the faculty for the ensuing year, all other positions having been filled at a previous meeting.

The faculty as chosen is Superintendent, J. N. Geyer; principal, W. C. Yeisley; High School, Miss Birdie Besinger; Grammar grades, A. G. Dempster; Intermediate grades, Miss Thelma Pennisten; Primary, Miss Hulda Lunte.

The rains on Monday and Tuesday of this week delayed farming operations again until Thursday when a number of teams were again in the fields although the ground was still pretty wet and heavy. Corn is growing very rapidly and if not plowed within a few days will probably be left unplowed. The greater part of the corn is in good condition and promises a big crop. Wheat harvest will begin next week and a part of the oats will be ready next week also.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES.

Myrtle Tree—Sunday school at 10 a. m.; preaching at 8 p. m.

Pickering: The M. E. Church at Pickering will observe the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the church with an all day service.

In the morning there will be Sunday School at 10 a. m., and preaching at 11 a. m., followed by a basket dinner on the church lawn.

In the afternoon there will be a special program, consisting of music and short talks and a brief history of the church.

A cordial invitation is extended to all former members and all the friends of the church to spend the day with us.

E. W. Croy, Pastor.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Services next Sunday as follows: 10 a. m., Bible School; subject, "How the Gospel Spread;" 11 a. m., worship and sermon; subject, "The First Foreign Ambassadors."

8:00 p. m., illustrated lecture "Children of America." This will show by the aid of slides the work of our Christian Orphans' Homes. Let us have a good attendance at all these services. We hope to make some special music a feature of both services.

FARM CLUB NOTES.

The M. F. A. is indeed fortunate in the services that are being rendered by such men as Mr. G. A. Knight, Mr. Geo. Hubbell, Mr. Ed Robison and Mr. D. F. Warren all attorneys and large land owners of Trenton, Mo. These men, as well as all the attorneys of Trenton, have signed the M. F. A. Producers Contract, and are now giving their time, free, to explain the Contract.

Mr. Hubbell is speaking at Albany, Mo., June 29, 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Robinson at Maysville, Mo., July 2, 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Knight at Maryville, Circuit Court room, Tuesday evening, June 30, 7:30 p. m. All professional and business people, as well as farmers are cordially invited and urged to attend and get a professional man's opinion on the Contract and the Missouri Farmers Association Inc.

Music will be furnished by the Trego orchestra.

Graham

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scott accompanied Miss Flo Dungy part of the way to Chicago. Miss Dungy is going to take post graduate work in Chicago University.

Mrs. Martha Hume of Oklahoma City, who has been visiting in Illinois for the past month came on June 20 for a visit at the home of her son, Dr. E. M. Findley of Graham.

On the evening of June 20 the members of the Methodist Church put on an "Around the World" trip. People volunteered to use their cars. They had nine stops and each stop was to represent different countries in different parts of the world. The following places were represented: Henry Fields, Hawaii, Japan, China, Paris, Ireland, Africa, White House, and the Union Station where the tickets were sold for the trip.

On Wednesday morning, a baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Kenny who live four miles north of Graham.

The class in food selection conducted by Miss Dixie Harris, met at the home of Mrs. John Geyer on Tuesday afternoon. They cooked and served a delicious dinner. Ten ladies were present.

Mrs. Nettie Fuqua is ill at her home on South Vine street. Her brother, Fred Smith, county clerk, who has been attending the M. W. A. meeting in Chicago since Sunday is expected home this evening.

Investigation in English Study Is Being Made by Teachers of Subject

Every teacher of English, every principal, and every superintendent of schools should co-operate in the investigation of common uses of English which the National Council of Teachers of English is conducting this year.

The object of school work in English is to prepare young people to meet the demands which the situations of life will make upon them. There is wide divergence of opinion, however, as to the success of our endeavors and the adequacy of the methods followed. It is frequently asserted that the level of popular command of English is lower than it ought to be, not only as regards accuracy, but as regards readiness; not only when men and women have to write, but even in their conversation on social and business matters, and in the way they interpret what they hear and what they read. It is asserted also that the English of the schools and the English of life are too far apart.

Before the justice of these assertions can be determined, and before any readjustment of school curricula or methods can be wisely undertaken, we need to know more definitely than now what are the purposes for which the ordinary citizen has to use the medium of language and what kinds of difficulties are involved. We need not only the advice of the expert observer but the testimony of men and women everywhere as to their own actual experience.

The National Council of Teachers of English has accordingly "appealed to the people." It has appointed a Committee on the Place of English in American Life, consisting of John M. Clapp, New York University, Chairman; Rewey B. Inglis of the University of Minnesota, Edwin L. Miller of the Detroit High Schools, Charles S. Pendleton of the Peabody Teachers College of Nashville, and Mary Doan Spalding of the Harris Teachers College, St. Louis, to find out for what uses business men, farmers, doctors, laborers, housewives and all of us employ English, which of these uses are most frequent, and what chief difficulties the users feel in each situation.

Such data, collected from thousands of typical citizens of all occupations, should make it possible for the schools to set up more definite objectives and to determine somewhat accurately the emphasis due to each of them. As the expense of a national straw vote would be out of the question, the Committee is using a modified questionnaire procedure, conducted in each town by a local committee representing all walks of life: business and professional people, labor unions, women's clubs, etc. The members of this committee distribute the questionnaire personally among their acquaintances.

The questionnaire in itself is an education, as in it is embodied a fresh and profound analysis of the whole problem of teaching English. It is divided into two sections, the first entitled "The Common Uses of English for Communication," and the second "The Common Uses of English for Interpretation."

Under "The Common Uses of English for Communication" we have sections on Interviews, Conversation, Public Speaking, and Writing. Under the head of Interviews there are questions on the use of English in the adjustment of claims, on dealings with customers or patrons, on the collection of information, on reports, on giving instructions to subordinates, and on conference. Under the head of Conversation there are inquiries about talks with strangers or casual acquaintances, on the use of English at social gatherings, and on telephone talk. Under the head of Public Speaking are: Taking Part in Public Discussion at the Meeting of a Club or Organization, Preparing a Speech for a Special Occasion, and Conducting a Meeting as Chairman. Under the head of Writing we have questions on diaries, memoranda, bookkeeping, notes of invitation, acceptance, introduction and condolence, reports and notices of an organization, written instructions to subordinates, business letters, advertisements, and news.

The Use of English for Interpretation is divided in this questionnaire into Reading and Listening. Under Reading there are questions about newspapers, the use of books of reference, interpretation of legal papers, study of technical periodicals or serious books, reading for stimulus, recreation, and culture, and the reading of standard literature. Under the head of Listening we have questions on addresses, lectures, radio programs, plays, business interviews, conferences and conventions.

In addition to distributing these questionnaires the local committee members discuss the general topic of the investigation with persons or groups representative of various interests. The reports of these less formal expressions of intelligent laymen should prove as valuable as the more statistical data from the questionnaires.

Laymen see the value of this undertaking and are responding most heartily. They approve both the aims and the procedure. Scores of local groups are already at work, but the national committee is prepared to handle returns from hundreds of communities—cities, towns and rural districts. Teachers willing to co-operate in the formation of committees in their own localities should write at once to John M. Clapp, 15 East 26th Street, New York City, for copies of the Questionnaire and more detailed information regarding the investigation.—School and Community.

Ag. Class Combines Theory With Practice

Experiments With Different Mixtures of Cement and Actual Construction Work Is Done.

(Green and White Courier)

The members of the Vitalized Agriculture class are combining theory and practice in their work this summer and theory is not being stressed at the expense of practice.

The first part of the term was spent in studying cement and its uses. The class experimented with the different mixtures to determine the strength for the various purposes. Before leaving the study of cement the class built a concrete walk near the hog shed on the state farm. The computing of the quantity of materials needed and the actual construction were done by the class so that their knowledge of cement work is first hand.

The next project taken up was the study of horticulture. This included a survey of the fruits raised in this locality together with the methods of culture and enemies of orchards. On Thursday of last week the class visited the orchard near President Lamkin's residence. They examined the orchard for the various enemies of fruits, did some grafting, and observed the effects of pruning. Besides this work, they got experience in spraying vegetable crops. They have completed their reports on horticulture and are now taking up the study of rope.

This will include the construction of machines for the making of rope and the making of rope. The making of rope will be correlated with language, biography, geography, arithmetic, and history. All the knots and hitches used on the farm will be studied in connection with the study of rope.

The state course of study is being followed in this course, which makes it practical for teachres of agriculture in high schools and especially good for rural teachers because the work is especially adapted to their needs.

Awards Are Won In Swimming Classes

(Green and White Courier)

Eighteen members of the beginning swimming class have passed the fifty foot swimming test. These were awarded buttons which are given out by the American Red Cross. The following passed the test successfully: Mrs. Wadley, Grare Pierce, Lucille Lamar, Lenore Levan, Avis Wells, Mary Keith, Elizabeth Briggs, Geraldine Smith, Lucerne Easterly, Hazel Barton, Marjie Morris, Alta Argo, Eva Powell, Florence Walker, Rosella Froman, Roma Logan, Bernadine Yoder, and Opal Wilson.

In passing the test the swimmer uses any regular stroke. The majority start with the back stroke and then change to a side stroke. Several were able to swim the full width of the pool which is ninety feet.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy extended during the illness and death of our dearly beloved husband and brother; for the beautiful floral offerings. Also thank the G. A. R., and W. R. C., for their beautiful ceremonies and kind remembrances.

Mrs. James R. Croy,
Mrs. Robert L. Crabb,
Mrs. Luella Phillips,
Mrs. I. T. Parker.

A GROUCH NOT WANTED.

There is nothing so harmful to success as being a grouch. Stomach, liver and intestinal troubles make one grouchy. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy will help overcome these and usually gives complete results.

Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. At all druggists.—Adv.

TOCELEBRATE 4TH OF JULY

BURLINGTON JUNCTION ARRANGING FOR BIG CELEBRATION.

OBSERVE DEFENSE DAY

A Defense Day Parade Will Be Given and Machine Gun Drill by Service Battery of That Town.

Burlington Junction is making preparations to entertain a big crowd on July 4th, according to this week's Burlington Junction Post. Burlington Junction is the only town in the county to hold a celebration.

The Post says:

According to reports many people from nearby towns will come here to celebrate and the Burlington Junction fire department under whose direction the celebration here is to be staged, is busy making plans for the entertainment of the crowd.

The Maitland Farmers Band, a first class musical organization has been employed to furnish music for the day. The Service Battery and American Legion are to cooperate in observing National Defense Day which will be observed all over the country on July 4. There will be a defense day parade, and a machine gun drill by the Service Battery.

A calithumpian parade is also to be held. In this it is hoped to have the lodges, churches and all other organizations of the city and community represented as well as the business interests. A prize is to be given for the best float and already some are reported to be getting their floats ready. This will be an interesting part of the celebration and every organization should be represented.

Concession rights have been selling fast. Many inquiries have been received, indicating that the crowds are coming this way July 4th. A merry-go-round will be here for the entertainment of the little folks and the older ones too, if they want to patronize it.

The committee will arrange for a ball game between two fast clubs, but as yet the plans for the game are not complete enough to announce. There will also be other games, sports and contests enough to keep everybody interested and entertained.

The armory building is to be used as a ladies' rest room and there will be plenty of ice water provided. The celebration will be held on Main street.

The committee in charge of the fire works, has ordered one of the biggest displays ever brought here, and promise a fireworks display in the evening worth coming miles to see.

A trip will be made next week to advertise the celebration in all the neighboring towns, literature distributed and everyone asked to come to Burlington to celebrate.

The program follows:

5:30 a. m.—Salute.

9:30 to 10:15 a. m.—Band Concert.

11:00 to 11:30 a. m.—Band Concert.

DINNER.

12:15 to 1:00 p. m.—Band Concert.

1:00 p. m.—Potato race. (Prize 1.50).

1:30 p. m.—Girls' foot race, 15 years and under (prize $3.50 pair silk hose).

2:00 p. m.—Boys' foot race, up to 16 years (prize $2.50 League base ball).

Judge Billingsley Had Birthday Sunday

Judge J. N. Billingsley of Clearmont, a member of the County Court, celebrated a birthday Sunday, but not in the quiet manner in which he had expected, for about 11:30 a number of his friends and relatives arrived at his home with well filled baskets and informed him that they desired to share in the celebration.

Dinner was served on the lawn cafeteria style and those present to enjoy it were: Mrs. Louisa Rogers and sons, Joe and Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Kern, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Burch, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Lewis and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Estol Bever and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Younger and family, Fred Humphrey and family, Mrs. Neal Lewis, T. E. Zimmerman, Miss Iola Looner, and James Humphrey of Anaconda, Mont.; Floyd, Lowell and Dale Billingsley.

After the dinner Judge Billingsley was presented with a fine rocker as a token of the high esteem in which he is held by his friends. L. C. Kern made the presentation in a few fitting remarks.

The afternoon was spent in a pleasant social way, and the day was one of much enjoyment to all, and one that will be long remembered.—Burlington Junction Post.

Twenty Girls Occupy Newman Club House

(Green and White Courier)

The Newman Club House is proving to be an especially popular place to stay. The house is under ordinary circumstances supposed to hold eighteen girls, but this summer twenty girls and Misses Katherine and Margaret Franken are staying there.

The idea of providing a club house has been a dream of the Newman Club for several years, but finances have up until last September proved too difficult an obstacle to overcome.

Last summer when plans were made to turn the house at 311 West Third street into an apartment house, Miss Katherine and Miss Margaret Franken saw its possibilities and wondered if it could profitably be turned into a club house. Upon investigation they found several prominent citizens who were interested in the idea. Interest grew among the college students, and as interest grew the funds grew. The dream of the Newman Club has now become a reality.

The Newman Club can be justly proud of the fact that the furniture is practically paid for, and a thousand dollar payment has been made on the house. Now they are planning to raise funds to buy a piano.

Most of the girls are doing light housekeeping. Each group is required to make out a menu for each week to be turned in to the house supervisor. These menus are inspected and are required to be balanced and sufficient. The plan has been very satisfactory this year and has worked with practically no friction.

When the house is paid for, the ultimate plan is to allow poor but worthy girls to stay in the club house until they have enough college work to enable them to teach. After they have taught two years they may begin paying the club for their room, plus one per cent interest. They have five years to finish the payment.

Those that are staying at the Newman Club House this quarter are Nora Kelly, Maye Sturm, Mrs. D. L. May, Nora Felix, Rita Fisher, Beulah Tillett, Lola Tillett, Irene McNeal, Mary Etta Nash, Mary Werth, Alice Lawler, Mrs. J. Walkup, Ruth White, Thelma Massey, Mary Sybilla Franken, Helen Hankins, Gertrude Sturm, LaVon Gabbert, Marie Farnnan, Nellie Farnnan, Miss Katherine and Miss Margaret Franken.

Many Corporations Conduct Campaigns to Promote Public Confidence and Good Will

The following is the twenty-first installment of the article on "Community Advertising" written for the Democrat-Forum by D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce.

The population of the U. S. has increased about 40 per cent in 20 years. During the same time the demand for street railway service has increased 166 per cent, for gas 207 per cent, for electric light and power, 2,000 per cent. The electric light and power company of Chicago has more customers, (630,000) now, than there were users of electricity in the entire country 20 years ago.

Many corporations engaged in a public service now conduct systematic campaigns intended to promote public confidence and good will. It is important that the public be kept fully, accurately and quickly informed.

Information was recently published that more than 50 insurance companies dealing in fire and other forms of farm protection had reached the decision that the time is here to sell their services with the help of advertising. The following results are expected: (1) A change in the attitude of the public from prejudice to friendship. (2) Provide information for the farm and local newspapers. (3) Improve morale of people connected with the business. (4) Educate representatives of the companies. (5) A better understanding of the insurance business on the part of the public.

More intensive community advertising by the insurance companies is necessary for the reason that only about 57 billions of life insurance coverage is protecting less than 10 per cent of risks that should be covered. The combined resources of the insurance companies of America amounts to nearly 11 billion dollars. This is more than three times the value of our mining products.

Confidence can be established through community advertising by individual companies. If our community builders are thoughtful, wise, and shrewd, they will institute some effective plans, whereby the companies can co-operate with them in their local, state, and district advertising programs.

Englishman Plays Role of Roosevelt

To an Englishman falls the privilege of portraying for the screen the character of one of the greatest Americans of modern times—Theodore Roosevelt.

The Englishman who plays Roosevelt in "Sundown" Earl Hudson's epic of the fast-fading West, which shows at the Empire on Monday and Tuesday, is a character actor who bears a striking resemblance to the late President.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Foster went to Rochester, Minn., yesterday where Mr. Foster will undergo an examination at the Mayo clinic.

gradually and uniformly diffused in all directions.

"'Moulded or diffusing door glass lenses, shall be symmetrically or uniformly moulded so that the lighted filament shall appear blurred and all light emitted shall be diffused with practical uniformity in all directions.

"'Diffusing and deflecting door glass lenses must appear blurred or deformed, the light diffused, the major portion latterly, and so blended as to materially shorten the range and spread the light more widely over the road.

"'Search lights or spot lights shall be directed downward, and at no time be allowed to be directed into the eyes of other persons.'

Many Disregard Statutes.

"These provisions are statutatory and a non-compliance with them constitutes a violation of the law. Their observance will work added safety to our people. A survey of the automobiles parked on our streets recently revealed that a large per cent of them were not equipped with lights required by the statute. A reasonable time will be allowed to afford ample opportunity to install all automobiles with proper lights. Dealers in automobiles, accessories, etc., are urged to familiarize themselves with the kind of lights and lenses demanded by the statute and to assist the public in the installation of the proper equipment with respect thereto.

"Pursuant to the statute, the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles has approved some forty types of door glass lenses that may be used with light bulbs not exceeding twenty-one candle power and the statute will be complied with.

Cutouts are Violation.

"The use of muffler cutouts is a violation of the law and serves no useful purpose. Indeed, any cutout or opening in the exhaust pipe, between the motor and the muffler, is a violation of the law, unless the same be completely closed and disconnected from the operation lever, and so arranged that it cannot automatically open, or be opened or operated while the automobile is in motion. Complaints as to the use of cutouts will be acted upon at once and the sheriff's office is asked to aid in the suppression of their use."
